

A very quick update...

The Friday night Halloween party was heaps of fun, as you can see by the pics of the witches and our cat. The following day was a dive day -- three dives and one magical snorkelling experience with a pod of eight or nine pilot whales off the coast of Baltra; the "airport" island off the north coast of Santa Cruz. On our third dive, after seeing several schools of hammerheads, I found us a Scorpion Stone fish hiding on a rock. After the party the night before (and a VERY late night), I'm not really sure who looks worse... me or the fish.

be well, be happy.

big love, big hugs, big bubbles,

Roni

Las Chicas 1.jpg

31 October 2008
Puerto Ayora
Santa Cruz
Galapagos Islands

Claire - Black Cat Monika - Witch 1 Roni - Witch 2 Briar - Witch 3

Las Chicas 2.jpg

the most dangerous fish in Galapagos.jpg